

PRINTER'S PROOF
Draft Report

WHO'S GETTING AHEAD?

OPPORTUNITY IN A GROWING ECONOMY

by Michael Leachman, Janet Bauer, and Joy Margheim

THE STATE OF WORKING OREGON 2006

September 2006

OCPP OREGON CENTER for PUBLIC POLICY

Because facts matter.

Acknowledgements

The authors owe a special thanks to Chuck Sheketoff and Jacque Greenleaf for intensive editing. Special thanks also to Talia Gad, who provided valuable assistance as an intern early in the project's development. Thanks also to David Mandell of the Children's Institute of Oregon and Rachel Drew of the Joint Center for Housing Studies at Harvard University for reviewing sections of the report. Thanks to those who made data available and provided valuable assistance: Liana Fox, Michael Ettlinger, and other staff at the Economic Policy Institute; Eric Moore, Art Ayre, and Emily Stuart of the Oregon Employment Department, Michael Kennedy of the Oregon Office of Economic Analysis, Bob Visini at First American LoanPerformance, Bobbie Weber of Oregon State University, Karen Semprivivo at the Oregon Department of Human Services, and Oregon Business Magazine.

The Oregon Center for Public Policy would like to thank the following for sponsoring this report:

*AFT-Oregon
Community Action Directors of Oregon
Oregon Food Bank
Oregon School Employees Association
Economic Analysis and Research Network of the Economic Policy Institute*

The Oregon Center for Public Policy would also like to thank the following for their ongoing support for our work:

*Ford Foundation
Governance and Public Policy Program of the Open Society Institute
Gray Family Fund of The Oregon Community Foundation
Penney Family Fund
The generosity of many organizations and individuals*

The Oregon Center for Public Policy's mission is to use research and analysis to advance policies and practices that improve the economic and social opportunities of all Oregonians.

The OCPP is part of the State Fiscal Analysis Initiative (SFAI) and the Economic Analysis and Research Network (EARN).

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Executive summary	i
Introduction: Who's getting ahead? Opportunity in a growing economy	1
Chapter 1: More jobs, more insecurity	3
Oregon's economy is growing	3
Understanding Oregon's unemployment rate	4
Most of the job growth since the last boom has been in low-wage industries.....	6
Minimum wage increase has not hurt job growth	7
Construction was fastest growing industry, but is now cooling off	8
The long-term trend favors lower-paying service industries	8
Manufacturing maintains its importance as an economic engine but not as a job producer	8
A larger share of jobs is in lower-paying service industries.....	10
Job growth has not kept pace with growth in the working-age population	14
The number of temporary jobs is growing	14
Oregon workers are more likely to be part-time and "frustrated"	16
More jobs lack health benefits	17
Workers continue to face rising costs of health coverage.....	19
Retirement risks shift to workers	19
Unions improve situation for all workers	20
Conclusion	22
Endnotes	22
Chapter 2: Income inequality widening again	25
Higher-paid workers have gotten all the real earnings gains	25
Economic growth was stronger when all income groups shared in the prosperity	26
The top fifth are getting most of the income gains	27
Looked at another way, it's still the same story.....	30
Top one percent outpaces the rest.....	31
In half of all Oregon counties, the richest one percent of households have fully overcome the recession	32
The ultra-rich have done even better than the simply rich.....	44
Average top CEO pay in Oregon is 83 times the level of average annual worker pay....	45
Americans are increasingly getting stuck in their income classes	48
Conclusion	50
Endnotes	50

Chapter 3: The path to opportunity is getting steeper ... 41

Work is not necessarily a ticket out of poverty	42
Families need more than a poverty-level income to meet basic needs	43
Hunger down, but children just as likely to be in food insecure homes	45
Too few Oregon children have the opportunity of high-quality development programs in their preschool years	47
Head Start does not reach enough Oregon children	48
Child care is less affordable and less available	49
Average monthly child care costs rise	49
Supply of regulated child care in Oregon declines	50
The Working Family Child Care Credit increases opportunities for low-income families ..	52
The opportunity for a higher education grows less affordable, too	53
Tuition soars at Oregon schools	53
All forms of higher education are less affordable	54
Fewer high school freshmen end up in college four years later	55
Students seeking greater opportunities through a higher education degree are more likely to take on debt	56
State funding fails to meet needs, but it is improving	57
The opportunity to build wealth through homeownership has gotten less affordable recently	58
Housing prices surge in 2004 and explode in 2005	59
Homes rapidly becoming less affordable	60
Ownership costs consuming a higher proportion of income	62
Riskier forms of mortgage financing gain in popularity	63
Subprime lending expands	64
Adjustable-rate mortgages were popular nationally in 2004 and 2005	64
Homeownership rate rose for several years, but growth has stalled recently	66
Minorities steered to subprime loans	66
African Americans and Hispanics in Oregon are not seeing homeownership gains	68
The widening housing wealth gap	69
Conclusion	70
Endnotes	70

Chapter 4: Fewer protections for those in debt 75

More payday lenders than McDonald's and 7-Elevens Combined	76
New payday loan law is a step in the right direction	77
How payday loans work	77
Oregon is promoting alternatives to payday loans	78
Car title lenders can still charge exorbitant rates	78
Pawn loans are capped, but a 1997 law pushed up costs for borrowers	79
"Rapid refunds" continue to be costly for low-income Oregonians	81
Credit card fees prey on borrowers with payment problems	82
Bankruptcies exceed college degrees	83
Job loss, illness, and marital failure the primary cause of bankruptcy	84
New bankruptcy law is bankrupt	85
Medical debt skyrockets	85
Conclusion	86
Endnotes	86

PRINTER'S PROOF
Draft Report

The Oregon Center for Public Policy does in-depth research and analysis on budget, tax, and economic issues. Our goal is to improve decision making and generate more opportunities for all Oregonians.

OCPP reports and materials are available at www.ocpp.org

204 North First Street, Suite C • P.O. Box 7 • Silverton • Oregon 97381
Phone: (503) 873-1201 • Fax: (503) 873-1947 • info@ocpp.org • www.ocpp.org